

Ronna Moore is a Remedial and Oncology Massage Therapist and a Lymphoedema (Certified Vodder) Practitioner.

Ronna has a private practice, including a session or two at the Melbourne Institute of Plastic Surgery, and in addition is employed part-time as a Palliative Care Massage Therapist in both hospital and community-based Specialist Palliative Care Service settings (Eastern Palliative Care Association Inc.) where she also is a grief, loss and bereavement educator.

She is currently a post-graduate (Masters Level) student in Palliative Care at The University of Melbourne, having received a scholarship from Palliative Care Victoria and the Health Department of the Victorian State Government to undertake this study. Ronna been awarded the Specialist Certificate (with Honours) Palliative Care as part of that course of study. Ronna has presented at a number of conferences, most notably Palliative Care and Oncology Massage related (and has been responsible for way too many conference posters).

She is a certified meditation (MBSM) teacher and teacher-in-training for Mindful Self-Compassion.

Member of: Massage Myotherapy Australia (MMA); the International Society for Oncology Massage (S4OM); Palliative Care Victoria; Palliative Care Research Network Victoria (sitting on its Research Forum); Australasian Lymphology Association; National Lymphoedema Practitioners Register; a committee member of Lymphoedema Practitioners Education Group of Victoria and a member of Meditation Association of Australia. And Patron of the Geelong Cricket Club!